

FormanWatkins Hosts Lunch and Learn at Southern University Law School

FormanWatkins recently hosted a lunch and learn at Southern University Law School in Baton Rouge. Our attorneys structured the lunch and learn as a roundtable discussion with over 65 first year students to encourage them to ask the questions they need answers to the most. A number of topics were covered, including preparation for and success during on campus interviews and how to make the most of your summer clerkships. The University was a great partner for this lunch and learn, and the students were very interactive with really great questions. The FormanWatkins attorneys hosting the round table included Melissa Fuller, McCann LeFevre, Charles Abbott, and Peyton Smith. Pictured with our team is Kerii Landry-Thomas, Director of Career Services for Southern University Law Center.

