Whether working with a client, an attorney, a coworker, or just in the general interest of the firm, Robert Gathings conducts himself with integrity and class. Excellence is of the utmost importance to Robert, as he gives 100% of his effort to produce high quality, objectively determined results. When it comes to finances in legal services, Robert understands that change is not only inevitable, but necessary, and works proactively with attorneys to provide clients with high value solutions. With a professional background, including eight plus years with KPMG, Robert is an experienced C-Suite executive who strives for nothing less than excellence and takes pride in he and his team's work. When not working, Robert enjoys serving various civic and community organizations, and currently serves on the board of a large community health organization. He also enjoys sporting events and, in particular, is a baseball enthusiast.
