In the courtroom and at the negotiation table he is relentless, known for being courteous and tough, gracious and dogged. He understands that the path to a favorable resolution begins with an honest assessment of the case followed by the hard work of creating a formidable trial option. Trey has an innate ability to analyze large problems, distill complex facts, and find creative solutions. These talents make him a frequent partner with clients seeking someone to design, coordinate, and implement national strategies, as well as to budget and manage costs.
