Chelsea measures her success based on her relationships with others. To her, an important part of her job is to create lasting, meaningful connections with her clients that help her to advocate for them and their business. Growing up in a family of attorneys, graduating undergraduate school magna cum laude, excelling in journalism before law school as a web producer and content writer, and completing law school cum laude with a multitude of accomplishments, Chelsea has an overwhelming amount of knowledge and experience to offer her clients. Having a healthy fear of failure, Chelsea is a hard working attorney when under pressure, and she enjoys the complexity of each case and the opportunity to create individual, unique solutions for them. A talented writer, a thorough analyst, and a lover of travel, Chelsea is the highly experienced and deeply compassionate lawyer that every case needs.
