

Firm Recognizes 2020 Pro Bono Star and Civic Star Award Recipients

The Firm is excited to announce that Julian Miller and Jennifer Parks, respectively, received the inaugural FormanWatkins Pro Bono Star and Civic Star awards!

Julian Miller was awarded the Pro Bono Star for providing over 365 pro bono hours during 2020, further reinforcing the Firm's continued commitment to serving members of our communities with legal services when they need it the most. Julian works in our Jackson, MS office and leads the charge as the firm liaison to Mississippi College's Education Law & Policy Clinic. Julian is a rising star in the field, with a hefty list of important litigation involvement complementing his extensive civic engagement. As the lead attorney for the MC Law education clinic, Julian coordinates among our attorneys and a team of student attorneys in advocating on behalf of clients across the state in matters ranging from individual cases to policy advocacy work.

Jennifer Parks was awarded the Civic Star for dedicating over 131 civic hours throughout 2020 to organizations and non-profits, including Jackson Legal Professionals Association (President – 2020-2021), Mississippi Legal Professionals Association (current Vice President and future President-Elect), and Southside Assembly of God (Women's Connection Board, Youth Leader and Media Department team), just to name a few! Jennifer works in our Jackson, MS office and has been with the Firm since 2004.

We are humble to have so many employees who contribute so much time to their communities each year, and we are proud they are a part of the FormanWatkins family. Read more on our Pro Bono and Civic Engagement initiatives here.
