

Forman Watkins & Krutz Silica Team Won Summary Judgment in Crittenden County, Arkansas

On June 22, the silica team of Forman Watkins and Krutz won summary judgment in Crittenden County, Arkansas. The plaintiff claimed he contracted silicosis as a result of his exposure to silica sand supplied by FormanWatkins' client. The judge ruled that plaintiff did not prove he was ever exposed to defendant's sand as a matter of law and dismissed plaintiff's claims against our client with prejudice. The client was defended in this case by Ed Krutz, Brian Hannula, and Andrew Stubbs.
